Excerpt: .from nature, such as light and darkness, sun, moon, and stars, c.;--from the persons and actions of holy men, as those of Moses, David, c.--from the institutions of the law, as the sacrifices and feasts--and from the history of the church, as the saving of Noah and his family from the flood. It is the excellence of this mode of speaking, particularly as it respects figures from nature, that it is not confined to any particular nation or language, but applies itself equally to all men in all nations. Words are changeable, and language has been confounded; but the visible works of nature speak to us now, as they spoke to Adam in Paradise. The scripture itself generally contains a key to the figures, and is the best guide to their interpretation;--as the book of Hebrews is to the ceremonial law. Dr. Coke has the...
