Since it was my fortune to be one of those who watched at the cradle of the University, - sometimes when the nights were dark, and enemies gathered and danger approached in the shadows, - and to stand by the side of the Founder, giving such help as occasion permitted or anxiety prompted, it seems appropriate that those memories of his life which I may have unconsciously stored away, whether familiar to the many or known only to the few, should have the repetition of this memorial occasion, or the preservation of such record as it is yet possible to make. At that commemoration which, in the beginning of the last November, gathered about Cambridge loving sons and admiring friends to look back upon two hundred and fifty years of educational life, the thoughtful and polished orator of the festival could do no more for the memory of John Harvard than to speak of him in a passing sentence as the gentle and godly youth from whom we took our name, -himself scarce more than a name. For us, there is not yet the excuse of long and blinding years, and a memory faded till its colors are lost in the gray of a mist; and something more than a name was our dead Founder s gift. Surely, before the added years build other barriers between us and him, the solid strength and merit...
